Even when our infrastructure is great, more class computers are needed

Tomas Rivera Elementary School

Wildy Important Goals for 2011-12
WIG 1: Wildly Important Goal: INSTRUCTION By May 2012, all Rivera teachers will move from teaching at the Bloom's remembering, understanding, and applying level to teaching at the Bloom's analyzing, evaluating, and creating level 90% of the time as measured by formal and informal classroom observations and walkthroughs. By May 2012, 100% of the Tomas Rivera Elementary teachers and staff will be working interdependently to increase the school wide targeted intervention/enrichment time from 3 times per week to 5 times per week (150 minutes) to address the academic needs of each and every Rivera student as measured by SUCCESS Time logs.
WIG 2: Wildly Important Goal: PROFESSIONAL LEARNING COMMUNITY To improve student achievement, our staff will address learning as our fundamental purpose by moving from the Implementing to Developing stage as evidenced by the Professional Learning Communities at Work Continuum by May 2012. In order to promote student learning and improved achievement, the Grade Level/Team POWER Professional Learning Community (PLC) meeting time will increase from 90 minutes (1 1/2 hour) to 180 minutes (3 hours) as measured by the PLC sign in logs, notes, and minutes by May 2012.
WIG 3: Wildly Important Goal - ENVIRONMENT In order to provide a positive, consistent, and structured environment which promotes active, engaged learning, we will decrese student discipline referrals from 206 in 2010-2011 to 150 in 2011-2012 by requiring that 100% of teachers use and teach CHAMPS expectations in the classroom.
WIG 4: Wildly Important Goal: COMMON ASSESSMENTS Teachers will collaborate in their PLCs to write and administer one common assessment each semester in Aware to measure essential standards. They will move from 0 common assessments in Aware to one common assessment per grade level per semester in Aware by May 2012. This will improve the depth and rigor of classroom instruction while also enabling teachers and administrators to disaggregate student data efficiently.
WIG 5: Wildly Important Goal: PARENT & COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT In order to improve relationships among the Rivera learning community, we will increase parent and community involvement at Rivera Elementary from 2,053 volunteer hours to 3,000 volunteer hours per school year.

Wildly Important Goal: COMMON ASSESSMENTS

Teachers will collaborate in their PLCs to write and administer one common assessment each semester in Aware to measure essential standards. They will move from 0 common assessments in Aware to one common assessment per grade level per semester in Aware by May 2012. This will improve the depth and rigor of classroom instruction while also enabling teachers and administrators to disaggregate student data efficiently.

- Ethnicity
- Gender
- Mobility/Stability
- Special Program Participation
- At-Risk by Category
- Teacher-Student Ratios
- Graduation, Completion, Droupout and GED rates
- Course/Class Assignments
- College/University/Dual Credit/Advanced Placement Enrollment

Data Sources Reviewed

Demographic data are very important for us to understand as they are part of our educational system over which we have no control, but from which we can observe trends and learn for purposes of prediction and planning. – Victoria Bernhardt

List the actual data sources reviewed below.

- AEIS reports (2006-2010)
- PEIMS (eSchool)
- Office referral history (2009-present)
- at risk tracking
- LEP report, lunch report
- entry/withdrawal report
- student discipline report
- students enrolled in EXPO
- overall enrollment

See page 7 of the guide for probing questions related to demographics.

Findings/Analysis

"The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new landscapes, but in seeing with new eyes."

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths

- increasing strengths in sub-pops
- Families support education (reflected in attendance rates)
- Increasing sub pops in expo

Needs

- Differentiated instruction both in presentation and culturally
- Higher level thinking skills
- Increase math malipulatives for hands on experiences

Summary of Needs

- Differentiated instruction in all tiers of instruction
- Higher level thinking instruction/coaching for teachers
- College readiness instruction

Student Achievement

Student Achievement data refers to the annual and longitudinal reviews from varied sources of formal and informal data. These data provide insights about the degree to which students are acquiring the knowledge and skills expected for each grade level and course of study.

Potential Data Sources:

- State Assessment Data
- LEPAS and AMAO Results
- SAT/ACT/PSAT Results
- Advanced Course/Dual Enrollment Data
- Standardized, Norm-Referenced, Criterion-Referenced Tests and Measures
- State and AYP Data Tables
- Texas Success Initiative (TSI) Data
- Course/Class Grades
- Graduation, Completion, Droupout, and GED Rates; Diploma Types
- Promotion/Retention Rates
- Classroom and Program Assessments and Other Data
- Student Work

Data Sources Reviewed

We want to gather and analyze data that will help us understand the system that produces the results we are getting. We also want to move our district continuous improvement efforts from random acts of improvement to focused improvement that centers on our ultimate purpose: improving learning for all students. – Victoria Bernhardt

List the actual data sources reviewed below.

- TAKS results
- Kathy Richardson results
- AEIS report

Findings/Analysis

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths

- Professional Development opprotunities are abundantly available.
- Many teachers on campus attend optional professional development sessions to better their teaching skills. (SALSA, LASSO, GT trainings, etc.)
- Several teachers on campus are in the process of or have completed Master's level degrees in the field of education.
- Observations of teacher performance are conducted throughout the year.
- Administrators take the time to conference with teachers about performance in formative and summative conferences.
- PLCs are used to monitor student progress and offer targeted instruction to meet student needs.
- RtI committee meets to discuss students identified as at-risk and develops plans of action.
- Grade level teams meet in vertical team meetings to discuss strengths, weaknesses and areas for improvement based on previous year's data.
- Teacher feedback, PRIDE reflections, and student data is used to determine areas of professional development.

Needs

- More experienced staff is needed on our campus.
- There is a need for more open communication within PLCs.
- The district's teacher mentor program is thought to be highly ineffective by teachers on our campus who have been through it.

Summary of Needs

- According to the AEIS report, our staff's average years of experience is 7.9 years. This compares to the district average of 10.3 years and the state average of 11.3 years. There is a need to consider teacher experience when adding staff to our campus.
- Though are PLCs are a strength, there is a need for more honest, open communication among teachers. Some teacher have a difficult time being honest and expressing areas of concern to colleagues. Teachers who are good at this skill could help other teachers in developing it by being a mentor or offering advice on how to express concerns respectfully.
- Teachers utilize PRIDE reflections to gauge their own development each year. Our campus also uses teacher feedback per grade level to determine short falls in student performance and selects engaging professional development to help bridge the gap. (i.e., Thinking Maps and Write From The Beginning trainings to improve writing standards campus wide)
- According to teacher feedback, new teachers felt that the district's First Year Teacher Academy and mentor program was not helpful, mainly reviewed points just learned in college programs, took time away from the classroom and students, created stress and only had a negative impact.
- Teachers thought the idea of a mentor program for new teachers was a good one, but is generally execute poorly. Some ideas for improvement included having mentors more thoughtfully selected by matching mentors who taught the same grade (maybe one above or below) as the new teacher. The mentors should ask what the new teachers feels they need help with, not simply review points the teacher might already be strong in. Also, mentors should be used as a source of support and helpfulness, they should not make new teachers feel even more overwhelmed and nervous by feeling that they are constantly "under a microscope." Unfortunately, none of the teachers surveyed were able to list one strength of the current mentor program.

- Teaching Stratgies need to be vertically aligned. For example, common math and reading strategies.

Findings/Analysis

"The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new landscapes, but in seeing with new eyes."

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths Needs

Summary of Needs

Comprehensive Needs Assessment Summary of Priority Needs

Demographics:
According to the AEIS reports we do not have a diverse group of students or teachers on our campus

Student Achievement:

School Culture and Climate:
Educate students about bullying
Educate students about respect
Offer more extracurricular activites help students in grades 3-5 feel safer at school

Teacher Quality:
According to the AEIS report, our staff's average years of experience is 7.9 years. This compares to the district average of 10.3 years and the state average of 11.3 years. There is a need to consider teacher experience when adding staff to our campus.
Though are PLCs are a strength, there is a need for more honest, open communication among teachers. Some teacher have a difficult time being honest and expressing areas of concern to colleagues. Teachers who are good at this skill could help other teachers in developing it by being a mentor or offering advice on how to express concerns respectfully.
Teachers utilize PRIDE reflections to gauge their own development each year. Our campus also uses teacher feedback per grade level to determine short falls in student performance and selects engaging professional development to help bridge the gap. (i.e., Thinking Maps and Write From The Beginning trainings to improve writing standards campus wide)
According to teacher feedback, new teachers felt that the district's First Year Teacher Academy and mentor program was not helpful, mainly reviewed points just learned in college programs, took time away from the classroom and students, created stress and only had a negative impact.
Teachers thought the idea of a mentor program for new teachers was a good one, but is generally execute poorly. Some ideas for improvement included having mentors more thoughtfully selected by matching mentors who taught the same grade (maybe one above or below) as the new teacher. The mentors should ask what the new teachers feels they need help with, not simply review points the teacher might already be strong in. Also, mentors should be used as a source of support and helpfulness, they should not make new teachers feel even more overwhelmed and nervous by feeling that they are constantly "under a microscope." Unfortunately, none of the teachers surveyed were able to list one strength of the current mentor program.

Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment:

School Content and Organization:

Target Time should occur in the morning because children have lost focus by the end of the day and shut down easily.

Teaching Stratgies need to be vertically aligned. For example, common math and reading strategies.

Teachers don’t feel like the district benchmarks are adequete and test material that has not yet been covered. We don't need benchmarks that test what has not been taught, that's what preassesments are for.

Parents need to be more involved in the betterment of our school and spend less time complaining.

Campus expectations should be consistent across grade levels. Teachers should be held accountable for upholding expectations. For example, hallway behavior, gatorrific behavior, cafeteria manners, playground procedures, and dismissal.

Dismissal duties need to be more evenly distributed. Too many teachers standing around for walker duty (ten counted the other day). They need to come walk students to cars as they finish walker duty, as more help is needed there.

Family and Community Involvement:

teachers need to keep webist updated

need a stable PTA with lots of parental involement

solict to be adopeted by a business

use e-alerts (have parents sign up at meet the teacher night)

use automated system for everything

have one teacher per grade level attend PTA meetings (rotate teachers)

advertise in the community using their email blast, Savannah paper

- Look at how to gain more technology resources so that we may implement the new PK technology component

Comprehensive Needs Assessment Summary of Priority Needs

Demographics:
Develop a spreadsheet where data is entered for the Woodcock-Munoz assessment.
Data could be entered at the beginning and end of eack year to track progression.

Student Achievement:
Investigate ways to include special ed in campus data.
Continue to improve teacher skills in math and science areas.
Encourage more teachers to become SALSA Trained

School Culture and Climate:
A consistent method for keeping track of office visits that do not warrant a full discipline form being completed needs
To support the RTI process as children leave the AWSYC campus Education Specialist and Mental Health Specialist should be trained in the use of AWARE in addition to the Disability Specialist
Data from the Student Early Intervention Committee should be entered into AWARE.
Conduct Bullying Training in next school year to assure students new to the campus are also trained

Teacher Quality:
Mentor teacher training can be conducted at the beginning of each year as new staff is assigned.
Deeper science training for teachers. Salsa would be an example.

Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment:
Ann Windle should continue to connect with the curriculum department to stay on top of changes and needs in the curriculum

Family and Community Involvement:
We need to discuss ways to get more parents to attend trainings.
Examine parent participation in PTA.

School Content and Organization:
To plan more professional development in areas with emphasis in science
Explore age appropriate science strategies
Increase number of SALSA enrolled teachers
To emphasize regularly scheduled science lessons
Improvement in science scores on Pre-k guidelines assessment

Technology:
Detetmined how to improve available technology for a whole group activity
Look at how to gain more technology resources so that we may implement the new PK technology component

Calhoun Middle School Campus Improvement Plan

2011-12 Comprehensive Needs Assessment Summary

In accordance with state and federal legislative requirements, the staff at Calhoun Middle School conducted a comprehensive needs assessment for the 2011-12 school year. Data and findings from the comprehensive needs assessment were then used to develop the activities/strategies in the additional sections of the Campus Improvement Plan.

Demographics:

Demographics refer to the characteristics or make-up of the school and help us understand who we are currently working with and how we implement strategies, initiatives, programs and services to meet their needs.

Potential Data Sources:

- Enrollment
- Attendence
- Ethnicity
- Gender
- Mobility/Stability
- Special Program Participation
- At-Risk by Category
- Teacher-Student Ratios
- Graduation, Completion, Droupout and GED rates
- Course/Class Assignments
- College/University/Dual Credit/Advanced Placement Enrollment

Data Sources Reviewed

Demographic data are very important for us to understand as they are part of our educational system over which we have no control, but from which we can observe trends and learn for purposes of prediction and planning. – Victoria Bernhardt

List the actual data sources reviewed below.

- PEIMS Data - All Categories
- AEIS Report 2011
- CMS Preliminary AYP Report 2011

See page 7 of the guide for probing questions related to demographics.

Findings/Analysis

"The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new landscapes, but in seeing with new eyes."

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths

- Reading TAKS - White Students
- Social Studies TAKS - All Subgroups
- Reading - All Students
- Reading- African American Students
- Writing- All Students

Data Sources Reviewed

We want to gather and analyze data that will help us understand the system that produces the results we are getting. We also want to move our district continuous improvement efforts from random acts of improvement to focused improvement that centers on our ultimate purpose: improving learning for all students. – Victoria Bernhardt

List the actual data sources reviewed below.

- Growth was seen in all student categories from sixth to eighth grade on the Reading and Math TAKS tests. Science TAKS in eighth was lower than the year before, but the students were different, so the data on these students are not available. History scores were very high, but the passing rate is very low. Special Education students scored very low in all areas. Special Education has changed at Calhoun over the years. We now have full inclusion, no CMC services, or resource classes. In ARDs at Calhoun, it was suggested and encouraged by administration to administer higher level tests to special education students than seemed appropriate by some teachers.
- Intervention at Calhoun Middle School is a Reading TAKS Preparatory Class and a math lab class for those students who did not pass the previous year's TAKS test in the respective areas. Results can only be assessed by the Individual teacher's scores and the amount of success for each student. LEP students have benefitted from these classes by acquiring knowledge of the test and minimizing anxiety about the test. The LEP scores correspond with this idea. Students who are placed correctly into Read 180 and a regular reading class are benefitting from the personal growth in Read 180, and the exposure to the regular reading curriculum. ELA teachers at Calhoun, along with Dr. Joan Curtis, state that a student should be in Read 180 or TAKS prep, and the regular reading class. A student should not be placed into Read 180 and TAKS prep exclusively, or in both remedial classes.

- Science- All Students
- The data shows a dip in seventh grade in all areas. When comparing three consecutive years of the same students, there is growth in all areas from sixth grade to eighth grade on the Reading TAKS. The Math TAKS showed some growth in seventh grade, but overall the students from all categories improved from sixth to eighth grade in math also. Gender data is not available.

Summary of Needs

- Improve the performance of all subgroups on the 8th grade state science assessment.
- Improve the performance of LEP and Special Education subgroups on the state reading assessment at all grade levels.
- Improve the performance of LEP and Special Education subgroups on the state math assessment all grade levels.

School Culture and Climate

School culture refers to the organization's values, beliefs, transitions, and customs which shape the personality and climate of the organization. It determines how parents, community, staff and students feel about the school and affects how people interact within the system

Culture is the underground stream of norms, values, beliefs, traditions, and rituals that build up over time as people work together, solve problems, and confront challenges. This set of informal expectations and values shapes how people think, feel, and act in schools. – Author unknown.

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths

- a. Casual Mentoring and the New Teacher Academy have had a positive impact at Calhoun. Typically, new teachers, teachers teaching a new discipline, or teachers new to Calhoun are given a partner to help them. The partner is either a cohort or a team member suggested by the department head or the team leader. At Calhoun, it would be beneficial for two types of mentors: a mentor for behavior/discipline matters and one for academic matters. It would also be beneficial if the mentoring program was more formal than informal.
- a. New staff is supported informally by team leaders, department heads, and cohorts. The core subjects are well-supported by the UBD planning once a six-weeks. Feedback is acquired through discussion, test results, and overall performance on benchmarks, state testing, and common assessments.

Needs

- Continue to develop effective programs and ideas to better implement co-teaching and inclusion practices.
- Continue to hire quality teachers trained to work with diverse populations to enhance student achievement.

- a. At Calhoun MS, Math, English, History, and Science teachers were sent to Title 1 Training on Thinking Maps, which was beneficial for these teachers. However, leaving five substitutes for a team on the same day was very difficult on the students, the substitutes, administration, and the remaining team teachers. Also, special education teachers, reading teachers, and fine arts teachers were not invited to the training and truly desired to be included. The implementation of the training was encouraged by returning to the meetings and discussing real classroom examples. The teachers who attended wrote observations and evaluations of the training. The impact on students was encouraged because the maps were used across five subjects.

Summary of Needs

- Continue to work to improve more effective implementation of co-teaching and inclusion instructional process.
- Continue to utilize effective staff development to improve teacher effectiveness with diverse populations.

Look for patterns in the data that reveals trends or insights about the district/school. A brief statement for each of the dimensions helps introduce or frame the discussion of trends which emerge in the data, particularly across data sources. Identify below statements about the strengths, as well as the priority need areas of the district/school.

Strengths

- On our campus, faculty and staff use the grade's scope and sequence, review data of low performing areas, re-teach using a different approach, and use 21st Century tutoring, mentoring, and homework.
- The curriculum, instruction, and assessment are aligned with 21st Century Learning Skills by tutoring, mentoring, and homework.
- Data from common assessments is used to direct pacing, reteaching, and intervention.
- Teachers use the 5E model, whole brain, and models to deliver cutting edge, engaging learning opportunities in a safe, cerebral, constructive learning environment.

Needs

- Our curriculum is linked to the TEKS by reviewing our scope and sequence and lesson plans. Departmentalized planning gives teachers the opportunity to review data, determine low performing areas and re-teach using a difference approach. 21st Century would be enhanced if there could be a dialogue between their teachers and the students' core teachers. They can review what areas the students need to improve and how to help them.

- Teachers strive to teach releveant, engaging content in interesting and innovative ways. Knowledge gained in 6th, 7th, 8th will allow students to look subjectively at their world to solve future problems that do not exist at this time.

Summary of Needs

- Work to improve and develop better collaboration between teachers and the 21st Century staff.

Strengths

- There are many activities where families and community members are involved. These activities include: PTA, Science Night, Parent-Teacher Conferences, 21st Century Leadership Academy, Girls Club, and ESL/Bilingual program. These activities and/or organizations show that parents are involved in our students' education and support programs implemented by Calhoun. A large turn-out of parents to after school educational events show students that we all value their education and will, in turn motivate them to excel.
- These programs can build upon the strengths and background (cultural) knowledge of the students, family and community. Literacy and global civic involvement will be developed and enhanced through storytelling, reading, and writing, sharing, and acknowledging the benefits, values, and traditions. These programs can incorporate democratic community building social actions.

Needs

- Increased parent participation.
- Greater volunteerism from parents and local community
